NanoFANS Join NanoFANS and help support small science—the field that is certain to FRIENDS ADVANCING NANO SCIENCE/TECHNOLOGY become the next big thing in Houston!

NanoFANS participate in Rice University's international leadership in nanotechnology by helping fund activities and research scholarships at the Center for Nanoscale Science and Technology (CNST), one of the world's nano hotbeds and the home of two Nobel Laureates, Dr. Richard Smalley and Dr. Robert Curl. All membership levels receive advance notice of seminars, scientific meetings, and CNST events. Higher membership levels offer additional opportunities to network with the scientists directly involved in taking nanoscale research from the laboratory to a robust technology, impacting such fields as medicine, energy, electronics, and materials.

NanoFANS memberships run annually from your date of enrollment. To join, simply complete the attached form and return it to the address on the back. Or sign up online by visiting the CNST website at www.cnst.rice.edu
